STATE NEWS.

The Atlanta and Northern R. R., recently sold to the L. & N., distributed one month's extra pay to its employees, which amounted to $95,000.

At Louisville Annie Bailey fell over a stake that projected from the sidewalk and sustained serious injuries. A jury Thursday awarded her $7,000 damages.

Billy Toomey, of Harrodsburg claims to have a hen that lays a different size egg every day.

The heirs of James Cook were given a verdict of $7,000 against the Cincinnati Southern railroad in the Mercer Circuit Court. Cook was killed in the yards more than a year ago while in the employ of the company.

At Paducah, Miss Stella McNamara, head night operator for the local telephone exchange, attempted suicide by drinking a vial of carbolic acid in the presence of her stepfather and her mother.

Near Campbellsville, W. C. Cox, a prominent young man was instantly killed by a tree falling on him. He was about thirty-five years of age.

At Mayfield, Miss Callie Hickman met with a serious accident while playing with a dog. She fell with a pair of scissors, which pierced her abdomen, inflicting a dangerous wound.

TIME LOST IN COOKING.—The average housewife on being told that fully one-quarter of her time is taken up in cooking her meals, would be inclined to resent the remark as a reflection on her culinary ability.

Yet the same is as true as gospel, provided the wife in question is following the methods still in vogue in many households of preparing the day's meal's on an ordinary coal stove or range.

If she sums up the time wasted for the entire year, allowing three meals a day, she will be confronted with the startling announcement that fully fifteen minutes for each meal, have gone by the board. These statistics are the result of tests on a first-class coal range and a Gas Range.

The time taken from lighting a fire in the coal stove until the meal was placed on the table was exactly two hours and fifty minutes. The time for the gas stove for the same work was exactly two hours. Further comparison showed that the housewife using the coal range was burdened with the additional labor of inspecting the fire every fifteen minutes, turning her roast at least three times an hour, altering and regulating her drafts innumerable times, carrying coal and removing ashes.

There is more powder in a woman's tears than there is in a man's argument.
